

Hannah Rose

Hannah Rose is a homeschooling graduate who attended Hillsdale College, began her own family, and has been homeschooling her own children for the past 18 years.

She has been a part of Coram Deo from the beginning, teaching Art, Latin, and Writing. This is her fifth year as a board member and third year as the Board Chair. Her focus has been communicating with new families, running social media, and creating/ updating policies and processes.

Hannah serves on the worship team at Community Evangelical Presbyterian Church and has led several Bible studies and book studies for the women of her church. Over the years, she has served as Nursery Coordinator, Sunday School Superintendent, and Sunday School teacher.

This year, she and her husband are looking forward to graduating their youngest son and celebrating their 23rd anniversary!

JANELLE COMPTON

For the past 20 years, Janelle Compton has been a full-time homeschool mom to four children, fulfilling her passion for teaching. All four of her kids have graduated high school. She also taught Sunday School for 9 years and led an education co-op for over 40 families. For the past 19 years she has served as administrator of their family business. In 2022, she had the honor to step in and serve as Deputy Treasurer for Woodhull Township, for six months, due to the previous deputy resigning. This year she and her husband, Brian, will be celebrating their 27th wedding anniversary! She is so excited to be helping support Coram Deo as a board member!

Ron & Jeanne DeHaas

Ron and Jeanne DeHaas started Coram Deo 16 years ago and continue to teach and serve as board members. They homeschooled four of their own children through high school and have helped countless families with the homeschooling process.

Ron is a PhD candidate in geology and teaches many of the upper-level science courses. He is the founder, retired CEO, and now Chairman of the Board for Covenant Eyes, a computer software company providing accountability and filtering. Ron serves as an elder at Community Evangelical Presbyterian Church in Owosso. He is also on the board for the National Center on Sexual Exploitation.

Jeanne has a college degree in Christian Education. Besides schooling her own children, she has fulfilled various roles in the church involving teaching kids. She served as the Christian Education Director at Community EPC for many years. Jeanne enjoys sharing her love of history with the Coram Deo students.

Ron and Jeanne are invested in serving the church, serving their family, and serving the homeschool community.

Todd Evans

Todd Evans is a third generation pastor, although not by choice (God forced him!).

Todd has a BS in Social Studies/ Secondary Education from Taylor University and spent his first few years out of college teaching middle school and high school social studies as well as coaching basketball.

God then pulled Todd into the ministry. He has a Masters in Ministerial Leadership from Indiana Wesleyan University and has gotten about a third of the way through a Masters in Practical Theology. He has been a youth pastor, music pastor, and now a senior pastor for nearly 18 years. Since 2017, he has served as chaplain for the Shiawassee County Sheriff's Office.

In all that time Todd earned a 4th degree black belt in Cha Yun Do as well as training in Krav Maga.

JEN FELLER

Jen Feller grew up in MI and TN and is the oldest of 8 pastor's kids. She worked in the medical field for seven years before becoming a mother. Her four children attended a christian school for ten years, tried online charter school for a minute, and have been homeschooling for the past three years. This is the Feller family's third year at Coram Deo.

Jen has been married to her high school sweetheart for 25 years this August! They attend University Reformed Church where Jen serves with the worship team, prayer team, and discipleship ministry.

On the Coram Deo Board, she manages the homeschool-life.com site and helps out anywhere she can!

Alexander Haines

Alexander Haines and his wife Rachel are parents of four young children whom Rachel homeschools. They have been part of Coram Deo since 2023.

Since 2019, he has been the pastor of First Presbyterian Church in Howell where he engages his passion for teaching God's message in sermons, in Bible Studies and classes, and with confirmation students.

Alexander grew up in Minnesota. He graduated from Claremont McKenna College in California, and Princeton Theological Seminary in New Jersey before returning to the Midwest. He is currently a Master of Theology candidate at Puritan Reformed Theological Seminary, studying Reformation views on usury.

Alexander has been on the board since 2024.
